issues. At trial, to substantiate the plaint details, on the plaintiff's side, two witnesses have been examined and fourteen documents were marked. The relevant proceedings issued by the District Revenue Officer, Thirukovilur is Ex.B.106 dated 07.02.2000.

6. The trial Court upon consideration of oral and documentary evidence and after hearing the arguments advanced by either side, has concluded that the plaintiff has not filed any document to prove his possession over the suit property and hence, the plaintiff was non-suited.

Court, Villupuram in A.S.No.33 of 2002. Upon consideration of case records and after hearing the arguments advanced by both sides counsels, based on

Ex.A17 - Order of the District Revenue Officer in Na.Ka.No.3/2494/2003 dated

10.02.2005, the Judgment of the Trial Court was reversed by decreeing the suit allowed the appeal.

8. Against the said findings of the First Appellate Court, the defendant has preferred this Second Appeal.

9. The suit is laid by the plaintiff for the relief of declaration and for permanent injunction of the suit property in Gramanatham R.S.No.45/2 to an extent of 0.02 cents of land inclusive of tiled and RCC House constructed at Thiruvannainallur Sub Division, Villupuram District.

10. The suit property is gramanatham. It is relevant to refer to the observations made by the Apex Court in the case of State of Himachal Pradesh v. Milkhi Ram (dead) represented by LRs. and Others reported in 2007 (15) SCC 750, wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court has observed that the trial Court, having noticed that, prima facie, the suit property vested in the State Government and no effective decree could be passed without impleading the State, being a proper party, ought to have directed the plaintiffs to implead the State or the Court itself could have directed impleadment of the State. It was further observed that even in the first appeal, the District Judge though issued notice to the Collector to intervene in the matter, did not think it proper to direct impleadment of the State as respondent. It was the further observation of the Hon'ble Supreme Court that having regard to the fact that the property, prima facie, vested in the State Government, opportunity should have been given to the State to contest the claim of the plaintiffs and direction was given to implead the State as additional defendant in the suit and remand the suit to the trial Court.

11. As observed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the State of Himachal Pradesh vs. Milkhi Ram (dead) represented by LRs. and Others reported in 2007 (15) SCC 750, when the suit property is vested in the State Government, then the State is the proper party to decide the case effectively and to safeguard the interest of the State, the Tahsildar of Tiruvonnainallur and the Collector of Villupuram have to be made as necessary parties so as to give an opportunity to the State to file its written statement to lead evidence if necessary. Therefore, this Court is of the considered view that to remand the suit to the Trial Court with the direction, would serve the purpose in entirety. The District Collector of Villupuram and the concerned Tahsildar are suo motu impleaded by this Court.

12. Based on the aforesaid discussions, this second appeal is remanded back to the Trial Court with directions i) to issue notice to the newly impleaded defendants ii) to receive the written statements from them iii) to afford an opportunity to cross examine the plaintiffs' side witnesses and to adduce evidence on their side v) to hear arguments of both sides and thereafter to pass Judgment on merits, preferably within a period of six months from the date of receipt of copy of this Judgment.

13. The Second Appeal is disposed of accordingly. There is no order as to costs. Consequently, connected miscellaneous petition is closed.
