2. The case of the prosecution is that the petitioner along with other accused abused the de-facto complainant in filthy language and assaulted her by using hands and also threatened her with dire consequences. Hence the case.

3. The learned counsel appearing for the petitioner submits that the petitioner is an innocent person and he has not committed any such offence as alleged by the prosecution. However, on instructions, the learned counsel further submits that the petitioner is ready and willing to abide by any conditions that may be imposed by this Court and hence, he prays to grant anticipatory bail to the petitioner.

4. The learned Government Advocate (Criminal Side) appearing for the respondent police submitted that following a wordy quarrel, the accused persons have attacked the de-facto complainant and thereby, caused simple injuries to her. Hence, he opposed for grant of anticipatory bail to the petitioner.

5. Heard both sides and perused the materials available on record.
