2. The case of the prosecution is that on account of previous enmity, wordy quarrel arose between the parties, as a result of which, the petitioners assaulted the de facto complainant and abused her in filthy language. Hence, the case.

3. The learned counsel appearing for the petitioners submitted that the petitioners have not committed any offence and they have been falsely implicated in this case; that there is a case in counter; that the petitioners and the de facto complainant are relatives and custodial interrogation of the petitioners is not required and sought for anticipatory bail to the petitioners.

4. The learned Government Advocate (Crl. Side) appearing for the respondent police, while opposing the grant of anticipatory bail to the petitioners, reiterated the prosecution case.

5. Heard both sides and perused the materials available on record including the First Information Report.

6. Taking into consideration the submission of both sides, nature of the allegations, the fact that the petitioners and the de facto complainant are relatives; there is a counter case and since custodial interrogation of the petitioners is not required for the purpose of investigation, this Court is inclined to grant anticipatory bail to the petitioners with certain conditions.
