2. The Learned Counsel appearing for the petitioner submitted that the petitioner is a salesman in a ration shop and the respondent police has now registered a case on the allegation that there is a shortage of stocks and also false recording of sales in the ledger. He further submitted that the petitioner is only a salesman and on the date of his retirement, investigation has been conducted and the FIR has been registered three days thereafter and citing this FIR, petitioner's terminal benefits are withheld. He further submitted that without prejudice to his right and contention, the petitioner is ready to deposit a sum of Rs.73,800/- to the credit of Crime No.129 of 2025. Hence, he prayed for grant of anticipatory bail to the petitioner.

3. Learned Government Advocate (Criminal Side) appearing for the respondent police reiterated the prosecution case and opposed for grant of anticipatory bail to the petitioner.

5. Heard both sides and perused the materials available on record.

6. Considering the submissions made by the learned counsel appearing on either sides and taking note of the nature of the allegations and since, custodial
