ORDER

Learned counsel for the applicant would submit that the vehicle is still to be located and therefore, the Advocate Commissioner is not in a position to re-possess the vehicle.

2.As seen from the earlier proceedings, sufficient time has been granted for locating the vehicle. Therefore, no further extension can be granted. No prejudice would be caused to the applicant if this application is disposed of by granting liberty to the applicant to file a fresh application seeking for the very same relief, once the vehicle is located.

3.Accordingly, this application is disposed of by granting liberty to the applicant to file a fresh application seeking for the very same relief, once the vehicle is located.

4.While considering the fresh application to be filed by the applicant in the near future, this Court will consider retaining the very same Commissioner appointed by this Court in this application as the applicant has already paid the Advocate Commissioner's initial remuneration of Rs.30,000/-.
