3. In the considered view of this Court, this Court will not entertain an election dispute in exercise of jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. This is more so since every election dispute involves disputed facts and the appropriate Forum which has to be approached will only be the Competent Civil Court, which will have the advantage of collating the facts and appreciating the evidence. Therefore, liberty is granted to the petitioner to approach the Competent Civil Court and work out their remedy.

4. With this liberty, this Writ Petition stands disposed of. No costs. Consequently, the connected Miscellaneous Petitions are closed.
