Punjab and another reported in 2012 (10) SCC 303 had laid down the legal position with regard to the exercise of power under Section 482 of Code of Criminal Procedure when parties seek to invoke the jurisdiction to quash the case on compromise. The Court has to look into the gravamen of the allegations and if it is private in nature, then the prayer can be accepted. In this case the allegations is that eventhough the accused purchased the bike, never handed it over to the defacto complainant neither the money was paid back.

3. Accordingly, when the case was registered, pending the case, now the bike has been handed over and both parties have compromised the issue amicably. The affidavit of the second respondent defacto complainant is also filed. Both parties are also present before this Court. Upon enquiry, they also confirmed that they have amicably resolved the issue. In view thereof, the Criminal Original Petition is allowed as prayed for. Consequently, connected miscellaneous petition is closed.
