2. Heard the learned counsel for the petitioner, as well as the learned Additional Public Prosecutor appearing for the respondents.

3. Though several grounds are raised in the petition, the learned counsel for the petitioner pointed out that the Detaining Authority has relied upon the stale cases and kept irrelevant FIR in Volume-I filed by them. Therefore, the learned counsel submitted that the document relied upon by the Detaining Authority to detain the detenu, has no live and proximate connection with the activities alleged to be prejudicial to maintenance of public order, and that there is no compelling necessity for detention. In support of his contentions, the learned counsel relied upon the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in 'Sama Aruna Vs. State of Telengana and others reported in '(2018) 12 SCC 150'.

4. The Hon'ble Supreme Court, in Sama Aruna's case (supra), has observed as follows :

“22. We are of the view, that the detention order in this case is vitiated by taking into account incidents so far back in the past as would have no bearing on the immediate need to detain him without a trial. The satisfaction of the authority is not in respect of the thing in regard to which it is required to be satisfied. Incidents which are stale, cease to have relevance to the subject matter of the enquiry and must be treated as extraneous to the scope and purpose of the statute.

23. In this case, we find the authority has come to a conclusion so unreasonable that no reasonable authority could ever reach. A detaining authority must be taken to know both, the purpose and the procedure of law. It is no answer to say that the authority was satisfied. In T.A. Abdul Rahman v. State of Kerala and Ors. [(1989) 4 SCC 741] , this Court observed, where the authority takes into account stale incidents which have gone by to seed it would be safe to infer that the satisfaction of the authority is not a genuine one.”

5. On perusal of the records particularly in page Nos.77 to 79 in Volume

I, this Court finds that the Detaining Authority has relied upon the irrelevant

FIR which has no material to indicate that the incident relied upon by the Detaining Authority to arrive at the substantive satisfaction to detain the detenu, has a live and proximate link with the activities of the detenu which is prejudicial to the maintenance of public order. As held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Sama Aruna's case (supra), incidents which are stale, cease to have relevance to the subject matter of the inquiry and must be treated as extraneous to the scope and purpose of the Statute. The incident relied upon by the Detaining Authority through the newspaper cutting is stale and does not indicate the immediate need to detain the detenu. The Detaining Authority has taken into account only stale incident and therefore, there is no compelling necessity to detain the detenu in the ground case without a trial.

6. In view of the ratio laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court and in view of the aforesaid facts, this Court is of the view that the detention order is vitiated and the same is liable to be quashed.

7. Accordingly, the detention order passed by the second respondent on

19.10.2024 in Cr.M.P.No.92/Goonda/2024, is hereby set aside and the Habeas Corpus Petition is allowed. The detenu viz., Suresh, aged 33 years,

S/o.Elumalai, is directed to be set at liberty forthwith, unless he is required in connection with any other case.
