2. The case of the prosecution is that accused persons were introduced to the defacto complainant in the year of 2018 through one Sathiyaseelan. At that time, Al was running a medical shop and an electrical shop at Perambalur. The accused persons demanded money from the defacto complainant for their business purpose. Believing their words, the defacto complainant invested money on the promise that the amount would be returned with high profit. The accused persons also made false representation that if a sum of Rupees One Crore was invested, it would become Rupees Ten Crores within two years. In this manner, the accused totally received a sum of Rs.2,85,00,000/- from the defacto complainant on several dates, through bank transactions and cash. When the defacto complainant repeatedly demanded repayment, the accused persons failed to return the money. Thereafter, they abused the defacto complainant using obscene words and also threatened him with dire consequence. Hence the compliant.

3. The learned counsel appearing for the petitioner would submit that the petitioner has been in Judicial custody from 15.11.2025. He would contend that the petitioner has not involved in this case incident as alleged by prosecution and that the present case is purely a money dispute. He further submitted that the petitioner has only borrowed a loan from the defacto complainant for interest and that there was no promise of high profits as alleged by the prosecution. He would further contend that the petitioner is an innocent, that a false case has been foisted against him and that there is no previous case as against the petitioner. Hence, he seeks bail.

4. The learned Government Advocate (Crl.Side) appearing for the respondent police would submit that the accused persons cheated the defacto complainant to the tune of Rs.2,85,00,000/- by promising to return the amount with high profit. Even after repeated demands made by the defacto complainant, the accused persons failed to return the money. He further submitted that that allegation is serious in nature and that if the petitioner is released on bail, there is a likelihood of the petitioner tempering with witnesses and interfering with the investigation. Hence, he opposed to grant bail to the petitioner.

5. Heard both sides and perused the materials available on record including the First Information Report.

6. Considering the rival submissions made by the learned counsel on either side, the nature of the offence, the period of incarceration
