ORDER

The writ on hand has been instituted to call for records pertaining to the Tamil Nadu Government Gazette No. 23 of 2023 dated 17.08.2023, passed by the second respondent and consequently direct the respondents to ensure that no action is taken under the 2023 Act that violates the Tamil Nadu Protected Agricultural Zone Development Act, 2020 and the Tamil Nadu Cultivating Tenants Protection Act, 1955.

2.The learned Counsel for the petitioner would mainly contend that the impugned Act No.23 of 2023 adversely affect the farmers and some of the provisions are contravening the provisions of other enactments, which are beneficial for the farmers.

3.The Act is enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Tamil Nadu and the Act is called as the Tamil Nadu Land Consolidation (for Special Projects) Act, 2023. Act No.11 of 2020 is Tamil Nadu Protected Agricultural Zone Development Act, 2020. These are all special enactments and the Legislature in its wisdom framed a policy for development. Certain consequences if any arise during implementation of the Act, it is for the aggrieved person to approach the Court. Contrarily, the Court in exercise of powers of judicial review cannot declare the Act/enactment as ultra vires unless it is established that any of the provisions are contravening the constitutional provisions or directly in violation of any other law.

4.High Court is not expected to read down the provisions in the enactment so as to give different meaning. The language in the enactment is to be understood in a simple manner as expressed in the statute and reading down the provision by the High Court in exercise of the powers of the judicial review is exceptional, where the High Court forms an opinion that the objectives in the said enactment are not met with. In all other circumstances provisions cannot be read down by the High Court so as to give different meaning to any of the provisions and the enactments based on conjecture and surmises. Thus, the scope of challenging the enactment as unconstitutional is limited and power of judicial review cannot be expanded so as to scrutinize the policy involved in the enactment, in the absence of any specific instances to establish that any of the provision is unconstitutional. The petitioner in the present case concentrated only on the adverse consequences, which cannot be presumed at this juncture and therefore, if any person aggrieved on account of the implementation of the Act, such an aggrieved person may approach the competent forum for redressal of his grievances.

W.P(MD)No.16232 of 2025

5. With these observations, the writ petition stands dismissed.

There shall be no order as to costs. Consequently, the connected miscellaneous petitions are closed.
