ASHWANI KUMAR MISHRA, J. (ORAL)

1. Learned counsel, who had filed this appeal, has since been elevated to the Bench.
2. The State counsel points out that on account of subsequent developments with the passage of time, no cause survives in the present appeal.
3. Consequent upon the fact that this appeal has remained pending for a considerable period, and despite the passage of sufficient time, no one has appeared on behalf of the appellant, the appeal appears to have lost its efficacy.
4. Be that as it may, none appears on behalf of the appellant to pursue the present appeal. Accordingly, the present appeal is dismissed for want of prosecution.
