4. Learned counsel for DSIIDC appears on advance notice and submits that there is no disobedience of the order as the representation of the petitioner has already been considered on 23.08.2024 and such representation did not find favour with DSIIDC.
5. When asked, learned counsel for the petitioner, however, submits that the petitioner never received any such communication by any mode and it has come to their notice for the first time, today itself.
6. A copy of such order has also been shown during the course of the proceedings which may be made part of the e-file.
7. A copy thereof has also been supplied to learned counsel for the petitioner during course of the arguments.
8. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that in view of above, the contempt petition may be disposed of as not pressed. He also submits that the petitioner shall challenge the above order dated 23.08.2024 by filing a substantive petition.
9. When asked, learned counsel for the respondents informed that the industrial plot in question has yet not been allotted to anybody else so far.
10. Let status-quo, accordingly, be maintained for a period of two weeks from today to enable the petitioner to avail legal action, as permissible under law.
11. The petition is, accordingly, disposed of as not pressed in aforesaid terms.
