is not possible for her to physically come to the Court and depose about this incident which had occurred 10 years ago and thus she wants to settle the matter with respondent No.2.

5. The complainant/petitioner is present through VC who states that since respondent No.2 has remained in judicial custody for 9 days and they have now reached amicable settlement as she has forgiven him, the present FIR be quashed.

6. On a query made by this Court, petitioner who has been identified by the concerned IO, has categorically stated that she has entered into compromise out of her own free will and without any pressure, coercion or threat. It is also stated by petitioner that the entire dispute has been amicably settled between the parties. The petitioner further states that she has no objection if the present FIR is quashed.

7. In view of the above fact that the parties have amicably resolved their differences of their own free will, and without any coercion, no useful purpose will be served by continuing the proceedings, rather the same would create further acrimony between them. It would thus be in interest of justice to quash the abovementioned FIR and the proceedings pursuant thereto. There is no legal impediment in quashing the FIR in question.

8. Accordingly, FIR bearing No. 1003/2014, registered at Police Station Safdarjung Enclave, New Delhi, for the offences punishable under Sections 354/509 of IPC and all consequential proceedings emanating therefrom are quashed subject to depositing Rs.20,000/- by the respondent No.2 in the following account within 10 days:-
