He further submits that the petitioner was granted anticipatory bail by a Co-ordinate Bench of this Court in Cr. Misc. No. 23380 of 2018 vide order dated 19.04.2018. He next submits that due to engage in agriculture work, he could not appear in the trial Court, so a representation under Section 317 of the Code of Criminal Procedure has been filed by his counsel and similar representation has also been filed by other co-accused persons including the petitioner and it also appears that the petitioner was not pressed the application by his counsel, so the bail bonds of six other co-accused persons including the petitioner were cancelled and nonailable warrant of arrest was issued against him. He lastly submits that the petitioner again moved before the trial Court on 04.05.2026 for grant of bail which was also rejected with an observation that the petitioner may re-apply for grant of bail after 45 (forty five) days, which was also rejected.
