4. Learned advocate for the petitioners submitted that, on a bare reading of the FIR, it is evident that the genesis of the occurrence is nothing but a civil dispute and that the parties are agnates, due to which a scuffle took place between them, resulting in some unfortunate injuries. Moreover, so far as the injuries alleged to have been caused to the informant are concerned, the same are reported to be simple in nature. It is further argued that the petitioners are men of fair antecedent and they undertake to fully cooperate in the proceedings before the Court.

5. On the other hand, learned advocate for the State vehemently opposed the bail application.

6. Considering the rival submissions advanced by learned advocate for the respective parties and taking note of the genesis of the occurrence, coupled with the relationship between the parties, as also the simple nature of injuries and the fair antecedent of the petitioners, let the petitioners abovenamed be released on bail, in the event of their arrest or surrender before the court below within a period of four weeks from the date of receipt/production of a copy of this order, upon furnishing bail bonds of Rs.5,000/- (five thousand) each with two sureties of the like amount each to the satisfaction of the learned SDJM,
