- Mr. Rajendra Bidkar, Advocate for Applicant.
- Ms. Shilpa G. Talhar, APP for Respondent.

CORAM : MILIND N. JADHAV, J.
DATE : OCTOBER 14, 2026

P.C.:

1. Mentioned out of turn at the time of rising of the Court.

2. Heard Mr. Bidkar, learned Advocate for Applicant and Ms. Talhar, learned APP for Respondent.

3. This is an Application under Section 483 of Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 seeking Bail in connection with C.R. No.303 of 2023 registered with Taloja Police Station for offences punishable under Sections 8(c) and 22(c) of the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances; 1985.

4. Applicant is indicted in the crime in an NDPS offense and the recovery at his instance is of 500 grams of the alleged contraband namely Mephedrone. The Applicant is incarcerated for the past more than 3 years and the trial has not commenced. The learned Advocate had argued on non-compliance of the provisions of Section 42 and 50 as also delay in completing the procedural requirement under Section 52A. The reason which impels me to consider the Applicant's case is his incarceration for 3 years pending trial in a Special Act.

5. It is settled law that a Court while deciding a Bail Application has to keep in mind the principal rule of bail which is to ascertain whether the Accused is likely to appear before the court for trial. There are other broad parameters also like gravity of offence, likelihood of Accused repeating the offence while on bail, whether he would influence the witnesses and tamper with the evidence, his antecedents which are required to be considered in such cases. However the metrics of judicial decision making gets amplified or rather shuttled to another facet when dealing with offences where Section 37 of NDPS Act is attracted. In such cases one has to satisfy itself with the rigors of the twin conditions as prescribed under Section 37 of the NDPS Act. Section 37 reads thus:-

> "37. Offences to be cognizable and non-bailable.:- (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974),--
> (a) every offence punishable under this Act shall be cognizable;
>
> (b) no person accused of an offence punishable for offences under section 19 or section 24 or section 27-A and also for offences involving commercial quantity shall be released on bail or on his own bond unless:-
>
> (i) the Public Prosecutor has been given an opportunity to oppose the application for such release, and
> (ii) where the Public Prosecutor opposes the application, the court is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for believing > that he is not guilty of such offence and that he is not likely to commit any offence while on bail.

> (2) The limitations on granting of bail specified in clause (b) of sub-section (1) are in addition to the limitations under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974) or any other law for the time being in force on granting of bail."

6. From the reading of Section 37 of the NDPS Act, it becomes clear that the legislature intends to deny bail to accused alleged to be in possession of commercial quantity of contraband in absence of court subscribing to a contrary view, however therefore if seen it does not rule out the facet of discretion of Court to grant bail. Furthermore the Court must be satisfied that the accused is unlikely to re-offend. It is seen that while dealing with Bail Applications the material available for consideration and adjudication is limited. In such cases, if we look realistically the provisions of Section 37 leave limited room for a possibility of granting bail to the accused. However employing such limitation would create a dichotomy in the current scenario where one common grievance is made before this Court repeatedly in matter after matter. It is brought to the notice of the Court that trials are taking perpetuity to be concluded and prisons are also simultaneously overcrowded in some segments. This Court regularly deals with Bail Applications of under-trials who have been in custody for long incarceration, and is also equally aware of the conditions of our prisons.

7. Argued before me is a case concerning liberty of an under-trial who has been incarcerated for almost 3 years 1 months 10 days days a situation impacting the rights of undertrial conferred by Article 21 of Constitution to speedy justice as also personal liberty. In so far as the power of high courts to grant bail is concerned, when the case is such that involves a question of personal liberty of an undertrial who is incarcerated for a very long period, the powers are wide and unfettered by conditions, the principle rule being that bail is the rule and refusal is the exception, allowing accused persons to better prepare their defense.

8. In the following decisions of the Supreme Court and various High Courts concerning such long detention and imprisonment of undertrial prisoner / accused on being apprehended with commercial quantity of various contrabands, the Courts have in the backdrop of the aforementioned propositions exercised its unfettered jurisdiction in releasing an undertrial on bail on account of long incarceration by using its discretionary powers:-

8.1. In the case of Vijay Singh Vs. Union of India[1] the Supreme Court granted bail to an undertrial-accused who was incarcerated for a period of 4 years and 1 Month holding that Article 21 of the Constitution overrides Section 37 of NDPS Act if there is undue delay in completion of trial on the part of prosecution.

incarceration of the under-trial accused granted bail to him who was incarcerated for 1 year 11 months. The contraband in question was 220 gms of MD , the commercial quantity of which is 50 gms.

9. In all the above cases the right to speedy justice flowing from Article 21 of the Constitution of India and the foreseeable delay trial were considered as imminent grounds for grant of bail apart from the rigours of Section 37 of the NDPS Act in the facts of the said case.
