CORAM : AMIT BORKAR, J.

DATED : JANUARY 20, 2026

P.C.:

1. The applications have been filed by person claiming to be member of the society pursuant to the order passed in the writ petition, which pertains to issues of title, deemed conveyance, land records, and redevelopment rights in respect of the society property. Once a person becomes a member of a cooperative society, any right claimed by such person can only be through the society. This principle has been authoritatively laid down in Daman Singh & Ors. v. State of Punjab & Ors., (1985) 2 SCC 670, and has thereafter been consistently followed by this Court.

2. Moreover, having regard to the scope of the proceedings, the dispute is essentially inter se between the society, the purchaser/owner, and the developer. An individual member of the society has no independent locus to intervene or maintain the present applications.

3. Accordingly, the applications are rejected.
