3. The prosecution case is set out in paragraph No.2 of the order dated 7th January 2026 passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Pune in Criminal Bail Application No.8741 of 2025, which reads as under:

“2] On 13/12/2025 informant Ketan Pravin Waghmode lodged complaint to Welha Police Station. He alleged that on 12/12/2025 in the evening he was carrying one bull in his transport cart on the instructions of its owner Ankush Shendge. When he came near Nasrapur, accused restrained his way, inquired to him about the bull. They take him on another place, assaulted him by wooden log. Then snatched his mobile phone. They transferred the amount from his mobile. They further demanded Rs.30,000/- to release his vehicle. Based on this information police has registered the crime against the accused.”

4. It is the submission of Mr. Badve, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the Applicant that except the offences registered under Section 118(1) and Section 304(2) of (“BNSS”) all other offences are bailable offences. There is one antecedent of the year 2023, however he has been released on bail in that case. He further submits that the Applicant is not involved in the crime and therefore Anticipatory Bail Application be allowed.

5. Ms. Mulekar, learned APP for the State, submits that the offences are very serious in nature. In the FIR the Applicant has been named. She further submits that the statement of witnesses shows that the Applicant is involved in the crime. There is one antecedent. She points out reasoning recorded by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Pune in the order dated 7th January 2026. She therefore submits that the Anticipatory Bail Application be rejected.

6. On perusal of the record it is clear that except offence under Section 118(1) and 304(2) of BNSS all other offences are bailable. The maximum punishment is of three years. Although there is one antecedent the same is of the year 2023, where the Applicant has been released on bail. In the facts and circumstances the custodial interrogation is not necessary.
