2. The respondents 1 to 5 have rejected the survey request, stating that the total extent of the land measures 150.9 metres and already comprises 12 plots, not 14 as claimed. Further, while the petitioner has submitted a sketch showing a total extent of 163.0 metres, the respondents 1 to 5 have surveyed the property only to an extent of 150.9 metres. It is contended by the respondents that the petitioner is suppressing material facts and is seeking a re-survey of the land.

3. The learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that, at the time of purchase, the property was measured in accordance with the sketch provided. Further, the petitioner relies upon the rough sketch to substantiate the claimed extent of the property as hereunder:-
