2. The case of the prosecution is that on 27.01.2026 at about 06.20 p.m., when the defacto complainant was alone at her house, the accused along with other accused trespassed into the house, assaulted her with stick and stone causing bleeding injuries and breaking her teeth and abused her in filthy language and pushed her to the ground and threatened her. Hence, the case.

3. The learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the petitioner is innocent and he was falsely implicated in this case and he is no way connected in the above said incident. He has not committed any offence as alleged by the prosecution. There is previous dispute between the parties. Hence, this false case has been foisted against him. There is counter case has been registered against the defacto complainant. Hence, he prays to grant Anticipatory Bail to the petitioner.

4. The learned Government Advocate (Crl. Side) fairly submits that the offences are grave in nature. Due to previous dispute, the accused persons entered into the house of the defacto complainant and abused her and made assault upon her. Counter case has also been registered. The investigation in this case is still pending. Hence, he vehemently opposed the grant of anticipatory bail to the petitioner. However, the petitioner has no previous case and the injured in this case was discharged from the hospital.

5. Heard both sides and perused the materials available on record.

6. Considering the rival submissions on either side and the nature of offences charged against the petitioner, considering the previous dispute between the parties, injured in this case has been discharged from the hospital, counter case has also been registered and that this petitioner has no previous case and facts and circumstances of the case, I am inclined to grant anticipatory bail to the petitioner, subject to the following conditions:
