SURYA PARTAP SINGH, J. (oral)

This petition for bail is the third petition, filed by the petitioner under Section 483 of 'the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023'. It has been filed with regard to a case arising out of FIR No.103 dated 23.06.2020, for the commission of offence punishable under Sections 302, 34, 506, 201 of Indian Penal Code, Police Station Anaj Mandi, District Patiala.

2. The abovementioned FIR came into being at the instance of 'Kishore Patel @Keshwar Chaudhary', hereinafter being referred to as 'complainant' only. It was stated by the above-named complainant that the marriage of his son, namely 'Mithun Patel', was solemnized with 'Meena' about one year ago, and that they were living in a rented accommodation in Street No.6, Factory Area, Patiala. According to complainant, on 22.06.2020 he was visiting his son at Patiala, and in the night, he along with his son ‘Mithun Patel’ and daughter-in-law Meena was strolling after dinner. As per complainant at about 12:15 am, near Hotel A.D. Crown, Jagmohan Singh @Mohini and Bhupinder Singh @Bhinda (petitioner herein) met them, who were known to them previously. As per complainant, Bhupinder Singh @Bhinda asked ‘Mithun Patel’ as to why he was coming walking with a lady. The complainant further stated that when ‘Mithun Patel’, the son of complainant, told them that she was his wife, an argument ensued between ‘Bhupinder Singh @Bhinda’ and ‘Mithun Patel’, which escalated and resulted into scuffle and in that scuffle, ‘Jagmohan Singh @Mohini’ picked up a glass bottle (of liquor), broke the same and injured the son of complainant with the help of glass of bottle. According to complainant, the injuries suffered by his son proved to be fatal for him.

3. It is case of the prosecution that pursuant to abovementioned complaint, formal FIR of this case was lodged and the investigation taken up.

4. Notice of motion.

5. Mr. Rohit Bansal, Sr. DAG Punjab appears on behalf of respondent-State. Hence service of notice upon the State is hereby dispensed with. The learned State Counsel has filed custody certificate of the petitioner. The same be taken on record. No formal reply has been filed by the State. However, the learned State Counsel has orally opposed the present petition.

6. Heard.

7. The record has been perused carefully.

8. A perusal of record shows that in the present case, following are the relevant factors which are required to be taken into consideration for a decision: -

- i) that this is third petition for bail filed by the petitioner. The second petition was dismissed on 07.03.2024, i.e. more than two years ago. From the abovesaid date, no significant progress in trial has taken place. In fact in the last two years, not even a single witness has been examined by the prosecution. Thus, prolonged incarceration provides a ground to the petitioner to file and maintain this third petition;
- ii) that the petitioner is already in custody for a period of more than five years and nine months;
- iii) that except one, all the witnesses have been examined by the prosecution. The whereabouts of only witness, which is yet to be examined, are not available;
- iv) that the petitioner has clean antecedents;
- v) that nothing has been left to be recovered from the possession of petitioner;
- vi) that the trial is not likely to be concluded in near future;
- vii) that the detention of the petitioner in judicial lockup is not likely to serve any purpose;
- viii) that there is nothing on record to show that if released on bail, the petitioner may tamper with the evidence or influence the witnesses; and
- ix) that there is nothing on record to show that if released on bail, the petitioner will not participate/cooperate in the trial.

9. In the present case, the principles of law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in the case of "Dataram versus State of Uttar Pradesh and another”, 2018(2) R.C.R. (Criminal) 131, are also relevant, wherein it has been observed that “a fundamental postulate of criminal jurisprudence is the presumption of innocence, meaning thereby that a person is believed to be innocent until found guilty. However, there are instances in our criminal law where a reverse onus has been placed on an accused with regard to some specific offences but that is another matter and does not detract from the fundamental postulate in respect of other offences. Yet another important facet of our criminal jurisprudence is that the grant of bail is the general rule and putting a person in jail or in a prison or in a correction home (whichever expression one may wish to use) is an exception. Unfortunately, some of these basic principles appear to have been lost sight of with the result that more and more persons are being incarcerated and for longer periods. This does not do any good to our criminal jurisprudence or to our society. There is no doubt that the grant or denial of bail is entirely the discretion of the judge considering a case but even so, the exercise of judicial discretion has been circumscribed by a large number of decisions rendered by this Court and by every High Court in the country. Yet, occasionally there is a necessity to introspect whether denying bail to an accused person is the right thing to do on the facts and in the circumstances of a case”.

10. The principles laid down by the Hon’ble the Supreme Court of India in the case of ‘Satender Kumar Antil Vs. Central Bureau of Investigation and Another’, (2022) 10 SCC 51, are also relevant in this case. In the abovementioned case, it has been observed that “the rate of conviction in criminal cases in India is abysmally low. It appears to us that this factor weighs on the mind of the Court while deciding the bail applications in a negative sense. Courts tend to think that the possibility of a conviction being nearer to rarity, bail applications will have to be decided strictly, contrary to legal principles. We cannot mix up consideration of a bail application, which is not punitive in nature with that of a possible adjudication by way of trial. On the contrary, an ultimate acquittal with continued custody would be a case of grave injustice”.

11. Recently, in the case of ‘Tapas Kumar Palit Vs. State of Chhattisgarh’, 2025 SCC Online SC 322, the Hon’ble Supreme Court of India has observed that “if an accused is to get a final verdict after incarceration of six to seven years in jail as an undertrial prisoner, then, definitely, it could be said that his right to have a speedy trial under Article 21 of the Constitution has been infringed”. It has also been observed by the Hon’ble Supreme Court of India in the abovementioned case that “delays are bad for the accused and extremely bad for the victims, for Indian society and for the credibility of our justice system, which is valued. Judges are the masters of their Courtrooms and the Criminal Procedure Code provides many tools for the Judges to use in order to ensure that cases proceed efficiently”.

12. To elucidate further, this Court is conscious of the basic and fundamental principle of law that right to speedy trial is a part of reasonable, fair and just procedure enshrined under Article 21 of the Constitution of India. This constitutional right cannot be denied to the accused as mandated by Hon’ble Apex court in “Balwinder Singh versus State of Punjab and Another”, 2024 SCC Online SC 4354.

13. If the cumulative effect of all the abovementioned factors, involved in the instant case, is taken into consideration, it leads to a conclusion that the petitioner is entitled for the benefit of bail, and that the present petition deserves to be allowed.

14. Accordingly, without commenting anything on the merits of the case, the present petition is hereby allowed. The petitioner is hereby ordered to be released on bail on furnishing personal bond and surety bond(s) to the satisfaction of learned trial Court. However the abovementioned concession shall be subject to following conditions:-

- (i) that the petitioner shall not directly or indirectly make any inducement, threat or promise to any person acquainted with the facts of the case, so as to dissuade him to disclose such facts to the Court or to any other authority;
- (ii) that the petitioner shall at the time of execution of bond, furnish the address to the Court concerned and shall notify the change in address to the trial Court, till the final decision of the trial; and
- (iii) that the petitioner shall not leave India without prior permission of the trial Court.
