Versus

STATE OF HARYANA

..... RESPONDENT

CORAM: HON'BLE MR.JUSTICE SURYA PARTAP SINGH

Present :- Mr. Tejendra Rajawat, Advocate,
Mr. Nand Kishore, Advocate,
Mr. Rahul Kumar, Advocate for the petitioner.

Mr. Ramender Singh Chauhan, AAG, Haryana.

SURYA PARTAP SINGH, J.

1. This is second petition for bail filed by the petitioner with regard to a case arising out of FIR No.110 dated 24.04.2024 under Sections 302 and 34 of Indian Penal Code, Police Station Sector 53, District Gurugram. The above-mentioned FIR came into being at the instance of Archana, hereinafter being referred to as complainant only.

2. According to complainant on 23.04.2024 at about 11:00 PM, Ram Babu came to his home and informed that her husband got injured by two unknown boys, who hit him with a glass bottle. According to complainant on the receipt of above-mentioned information, he rushed to the stall of her husband Arvind, where there was a big gathering of public. According to complainant there she came to know that with the help of glass bottle, her husband was hit by two boys, and that he had suffered injuries on his head and neck. In her statement, the complainant on the basis of information gathered on the spot, gave the description of assailants. According to complainant her husband was immediately shifted to General Hospital, Gurugram, where he was declared brought dead.

3. It is the case of the prosecution that in view of above-mentioned information, formal FIR of this case was lodged and the investigation taken up. According to prosecution during the course of investigation on the basis of information provided by two eye-witnesses namely Ravinder @ Bhola and Babu Ram, the petitioner and his co-accused were arrested, who had suffered their respective disclosure statements.

4. Heard.

5. The record has been perused carefully.

6. A perusal of record shows that in the present case, following are the relevant factors which are required to be taken into consideration, for a decision: -

- i) that this is second petition for bail. The first petition for bail was dismissed on 23.09.2025, however after the dismissal of above-mentioned bail petition the statement of both the eye-witnesses have been recorded, who have not supported the prosecution case. Thus in the change circumstances the second petition for bail is maintainable;
- ii) that the petitioner is already in custody for a period more than 01 year and 09 months;
- iii) that the petitioner has clean antecedents;
- iv) that the eye-witnesses, who have been examined as PW-5 and PW15 have not supported the prosecution case at all, with regard to involvement of petitioner in the commission of crime
- v) that the investigation in this case is already complete and nothing is left to be recovered from the possession of petitioner;

- vi) that the detention of petitioner in judicial lock-up is not likely to serve any useful purpose;
- vii) that the trial is not likely to be concluded in near future;
- viii) that there is nothing on record to show that if released on bail, the petitioner may tamper with the evidence or influence the witnesses;
- ix) that there is nothing on record to show that if released on bail, the petitioner will not co-operate/participate in the trial.

7. In the present case, the principles of law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in the case of 'Dataram versus State of Uttar Pradesh and another', (2018) 3 SCC 22, are relevant, wherein it has been observed that "a fundamental postulate of criminal jurisprudence is the presumption of innocence, meaning thereby that a person is believed to be innocent until found guilty. However, there are instances in our criminal law where a reverse onus has been placed on an accused with regard to some specific offences but that is another matter and does not detract from the fundamental postulate in respect of other offences. Yet another important facet of our criminal jurisprudence is that the grant of bail is the general rule and putting a person in jail or in a prison or in a correction home (whichever expression one may wish to use) is an exception. Unfortunately, some of these basic principles appear to have been lost sight of with the result that more and more persons are being incarcerated and for longer periods. This does not do any good to our criminal jurisprudence or to our society. There is no doubt that the grant or denial of bail is entirely the discretion of the judge considering a case but even so, the exercise of judicial discretion has been circumscribed by a large number of decisions rendered by this Court and by every High Court in the country. Yet, occasionally there is a necessity to introspect whether denying bail to an accused person is the right thing to do on the facts and in the circumstances of a case”.

8. The principles laid down by the Hon’ble the Supreme Court of India in the case of ‘Satender Kumar Antil Vs. Central Bureau of Investigation and Another’ (2022) 10 SCC 51, are also relevant in this case. In the abovementioned case, it has been observed that “the rate of conviction in criminal cases in India is abysmally low. It appears to us that this factor weighs on the mind of the Court while deciding the bail applications in a negative sense. Courts tend to think that the possibility of a conviction being nearer to rarity, bail applications will have to be decided strictly, contrary to legal principles. We cannot mix up consideration of a bail application, which is not punitive in nature with that of a possible adjudication by way of trial. On the contrary, an ultimate acquittal with continued custody would be a case of grave injustice”.

9. Recently, in the case of ‘Tapas Kumar Palit Vs. State of Chhattisgarh’, 2025 SCC Online SC 322, the Hon’ble Supreme Court of India has observed that “if an accused is to get a final verdict after incarceration of six to seven years in jail as an undertrial prisoner, then, definitely, it could be said that his right to have a speedy trial under Article 21 of the Constitution has been infringed”. It has also been observed by the Hon’ble Supreme Court of India in the abovementioned case that “delays are bad for the accused and extremely bad for the victims, for Indian society and for the credibility of our justice system, which is valued. Judges are the masters of their Courtrooms and the Criminal Procedure Code provides many tools for the Judges to use in order to ensure that cases proceed efficiently”.

10. Therefore, to elucidate further, this Court is conscious of the basic and fundamental principle of law that right to speedy trial is a part of reasonable, fair and just procedure enshrined under Article 21 of the Constitution of India. This constitutional right cannot be denied to the accused as mandated by Hon'ble Apex court in "Balwinder Singh versus State of Punjab and Another", 2024 SCC Online SC 4354.

11. If the cumulative effect of all the abovementioned factors, involved in the instant case, is taken into consideration, it leads to a conclusion that the petitioner is entitled for the benefit of bail, and that the present petition deserves to be allowed.

12. Accordingly, without commenting anything on the merits of the case, the present petition is hereby allowed. The petitioner is hereby ordered to be released on bail on furnishing personal bond and surety bond(s) to the satisfaction of learned trial Court. However the abovesaid concession shall be subject to following conditions:-

- (i) that the petitioner shall not directly or indirectly make any inducement, threat or promise to any person acquainted with the facts of the case, so as to dissuade him to disclose such facts to the Court or to any other authority.
- (ii) that the petitioner shall at the time of execution of bond, furnish the address to the Court concerned and shall notify the change in address to the trial Court, till the final decision of the trial; and
- (iii) that the petitioner shall not leave India without prior permission of the trial Court.
