W.P.(C) 1778/2026 & CM APPL. 8629/2026 (Stay)

1. This is a writ petition filed under Article 226 of the Constitution of India against the order dated 04.03.2025 [‘impugned order’] passed by the Armed Forces Tribunal, Principal Bench, New Delhi [‘Tribunal’] in Original Application [‘O.A.’] No. 4100/2023 titled as Ex SGT Abhishek Kumar Singh v. Union of India and Ors., wherein the Respondent has been granted the benefit of the disability element of pension for Primary Hypertension (Old) assessed at 30% for life, rounded off to 50% for life, from the date of his discharge from the service.

2. The facts giving rise to the present petition are that the Respondent was discharged from the service on 31.12.2022 after rendering a total of 20 years and 15 days of qualifying service.
3. The Release Medical Board ['RMB'], held on 09.05.2022, assessed his disability i.e., Primary Hypertension at 30% for life. The RMB opined that since the onset of the disease was at the time when the Respondent was serving at the peace station i.e., in October 2017 at 46 WEU, Bagdogra; the disability is idiopathic in nature, the same was due to lifestyle related disorder, therefore, the aforesaid disability were neither attributable to nor aggravated ['NANA'] by the military service.
4. The Respondent's claim of disability pension was rejected vide letter dated 02.05.2023, stating that as the disability was opined NANA by the service. The Respondent preferred appeal-cum-notice dated 09.06.2023 against the rejection of disability pension.
5. During the pendency of the appeal, Respondent filed O.A. No. 4100/2023 before the Tribunal for the grant of disability element of pension. By the impugned order, the Tribunal while referring to the judgments of the Supreme Court in Dharamvir Singh v. Union of India and Ors.¹ and Union of India v. Ram Avtar² granted the relief of disability pension to the Respondent. The Tribunal held that the Respondent/officer has served in one field posting and two modified field in his career and the amount of stress and strain of such long service on the Respondent cannot be overlooked and therefore, the disability of the Respondent has to be conceded as attributable to and aggravated by military service³.

6. The submission made by the learned counsel for the Petitioners is that the reliance placed by the Tribunal on the judgment of Dharamvir Singh v. Union of India and Ors. (supra) is totally misplaced as in the said case the Supreme Court was concerned with the Entitlement Rules for Casualty Pensionary Awards, 1982 ['Entitlement Rules, 1982'], whereas the case of the Respondent needs to be considered under the Entitlement Rules for Casualty Pensionary Awards to Armed Forces Personnel, 2008 ['Entitlement Rules, 2008'].

6.1. He contends that the Tribunal has overlooked the Entitlement Rules, 2008, which governs attributability and aggravation and no longer permit a blanket presumption in favour of the claimant/officer and since the RMB has opined the diseases to be NANA, the Tribunal could not have presumed a causal connection between the disease and the service. He states in the facts of this case, Respondent retired on 31.12.2022 and therefore, the Respondent would be governed by Entitlement Rules, 2008. He states that the impugned order incorrectly applies the presumption under the repealed Entitlement Rules, 1982, ignoring the amended regime under Entitlement Rules, 2008. He states that the Entitlement Rules, 2008, have done away with the general presumption to be drawn to ascertain the principle of 'attributable to or aggravated by military service'.

7. Having perused the reasons recorded in the opinion of the RMB for holding NANA, we are unable to agree with the submissions made by the learned counsel for the Petitioners that the Tribunal committed any error in granting relief to this Respondent.

³ At Paragraph 7 of the impugned order dated 04.03.2025

8. In another petition, i.e., W.P.(C) 88/2026 titled Union of India v. 781466 Ex. SGT Krishna Kumar Dwivedi, decided by this Bench on 06.01.2026, our attention was drawn to the authoritative judgments of the coordinate Benches of this Court passed in W.P.(C) 3545/2025 titled Union of India v. Ex. Sub Gawas Anil Madso⁴ and W.P.(C) 140/2024 titled Union of India vs. Col. Balbir Singh (Retd.) and other connected matters⁵, which have conclusively held that even under Entitlement Rules, 2008, an officer, who suffers from a disease at the time of his release and applies for disability pension within 15 years from release of service, is ordinarily entitled to disability pension and he does not have any onus to prove the said entitlement. The judgments emphatically hold that even under the Entitlement Rules, 2008, the onus to prove a causal connection between the disability and military service is not on the officer but on the administration. The Entitlement Rules, 2008, however, contemplate that in the event the Medical Board concludes that the disease, though contracted during the tenure of military service, was NANA by military service, it would have to give cogent reasons and identify the cause, other than military service, to which the ailment or disability can be attributed. The said judgments hold that a bald statement in the report of the Medical Board opining 'ONSET IN PEACE STATION' or 'LIFESTYLE DISORDER' would not be sufficient for the military department to deny the claim of disability pension; and proceeded to reject the opinions of the Medical Board as invalid. The judgments hold that the burden to prove the disentitlement of pension therefore remains on the military department even under the Entitlement Rules, 2008; and emphasise on the significance of the Medical Board giving specific reasons to justify their opinion for denial of this beneficial provision to the officer.

9. For reference, we also note that the hon'ble Supreme Court in its recent judgment in the case of Bijender Singh vs. Union of India⁶ has reiterated that it is incumbent upon the Medical Board to furnish reasons for opining that a disease is NANA and the burden to prove the same is on the Military Establishment.

The requirement of reasons to be recorded by the Medical Board has been succinctly explained by the Supreme Court in another recent decision of Rajumon T.M. v. Union of India⁷ to state that merely stating an opinion, such as 'CONSTITUTIONAL PERSONALITY DISORDER' without giving reasons or causative factors to support such an opinion, is an unreasoned medical opinion. The Court explained that the said opinion of the Medical Board was merely a conclusion and would not qualify as a reasoned opinion for holding the disease to be NANA.

10. In this background of judicial pronouncements, it is well settled that onus to prove disentitlement remains with military establishment vis-à-vis Entitlement Rules, 2008 and we have accordingly examined the facts of this case. The opinion in the RMB relied upon by the Petitioner in these proceedings similarly fails the test of a reasoned opinion as stipulated in the aforesaid judgments.

11. The Respondent was enrolled in the Indian Air Force on 16.12.2002 and the disease/disability Primary Hypertension (Old) was discovered in the year 2017 [after 15 years of service], while he was serving at peace station and therefore, the disease has indisputably arisen during his military service. The Respondent was discharged from service on 31.12.2022, as the RMB recommended his release on account of his low medical category A4G2(P).

12. The Petitioners have however, raised the issue of non-entitlement of the disability element of the pension solely on the ground that the Medical Board has held that the disease is NANA by the military service. The opinion rendered by the RMB is extracted as under:

OPINION OF THE MEDICAL BOARD
1. Please endorse diseases/disabilities in chronological order of occurrence
Disability	Attributable to service (Y/N)	Aggravated by service (Y/N)	DETAILED JUSTIFICATION
Primary hypertension (Oht)	No	No	NANA, as the disability is diagnosed/ lifestyle related disorder and no close time association with stress/ strain of field/ HAA/ GI Ops service. Onset of disability occur when individual deployed in HAA during 1 st stage of Aardmaujzakar (individual was deployed LA/CH/IN/MS trench camp) It is idiopathic & lifestyle related disorder no close time association with stress & strain of field/ HAA/ GI ops. There was no delay in the diagnosis and no evidence of worsening of the disability due to military service. Hence, the disability is neither attributable to nor aggravated by service in terms of Para 43 of GMC 2008 (amended).
Note: 1. A detailed justification regarding the board's recommendations on the entitlement for each disease / disability must be provided sequentially especially in NANA cases as per enclosed Appendix 'A'. 2. In case of multiple disabilities or inadequate space, do not paste over the opinion, an additional sheet should be attached instead, providing a detailed justification, which is authenticated by the President and all members of the Medical Board. 3. In case the medical board differs in opinion from the previous medical board, a detailed justification explaining the reasons to differ should be brought out clearly. 4. A disability cannot simultaneously be both attributable to or aggravated by military service, only one or neither of which will apply.

The Petitioners contend that the onset of the disease was at a peace station, that there was no stress or strain of the military service; and the disease is idiopathic in nature and was due to the lifestyle related disorder of the officer.

13. These precise reason of 'onset in peace station' while dealing with the disability of Primary Hypertension have been specifically rejected by the coordinate Bench of this Court in Col. Balbir Singh (Retd.) (supra)⁸ and Union of India and Others v. Col. Koutharapu Srinivasa Retd.⁹ and have been held to be invalid grounds for denying attributability to the military service.

14. In Col. Koutharapu Srinivasa Retd. (supra), it has been held that, opinion of the Medical Board stating the disease is a lifestyle disorder will not prove/confirm that the disease was not attributable to military service. The Court opined that in case the lifestyle of the officer is the cause of the disease, the medical opinion must reflect/record the causative lifestyle factors (i.e., enlist the reasons for such an opinion).

In the present case, the RMB has merely classified the Respondent's disease of Primary Hypertension as a lifestyle disorder. The RMB says nothing about the causative lifestyle factors of the Respondent, which led to the cause of the disease. In contra-distinction, the RMB herein categorically records in response to the question no. 2 (a) and (b) that the disability is not attributable to the officer's own negligence or misconduct, at internal page 8 of the RMB¹⁰. The answers to this question, 2(b), shows that the opinion of the Medical Board that it is a lifestyle disorder of the officer is a conclusion which is negated and even otherwise not substantiated by any reasons.

15. The RMB has also recorded that the disability is idiopathic in nature. The coordinate bench in Col. Koutharapu Srinivasa Retd.¹¹ (supra) similarly stated that merely terming the disease of Primary Hypertension as idiopathic would not entitle the military establishment to deny attributability of the disease to the military service, unless the basis on which the disease has been termed idiopathic is recorded in the RMB.

16. In these facts, the reasons recorded in the subject RMB for holding NANA are invalid and have been rightly rejected by the Tribunal. Since no other causal connection for the disease has been found to exist by the Medical Board, the plea of disability pension has been wrongly rejected by the Military establishment.

17. In view of the aforesaid findings, the Petitioners' challenge to the grant of disability element of pension to the Respondent by the Tribunal, is without any merits. The Respondent has been rightly held to be entitled to the disability pension under the Entitlement Rules, 2008.

18. We therefore find no merit in this petition; the petition is dismissed. No costs.
