Jaspreet Puri And 3 Others

.....Petitioner(s)

Versus

State Of U.P. And 3 Others

.....Respondent(s)

Counsel for Petitioner(s)	:	Gaurav Srivastav, Rajesh Kumar Srivastava
Counsel for Respondent(s)	:	Amarnath Tripathi, G.A.

Court No. - 47

HON'BLE RAJEEV MISRA, J.
HON'BLE DR. AJAY KUMAR-II, J.

1. Heard Mr. Gaurav Srivastava, the learned counsel for petitioners, the learned A.G.A. representing State-respondents 1 to 3 and Mr. Abhinav Mukharji holding brief of Mr. Amarnath Tripathi, the learned counsel representing first informant/respondent-4.

2. Perused the record.

3. Petitioners- Jaspreet Puri and 3 others have approached this Court by means of present Criminal Misc. Writ Petition challenging the FIR dated 04.07.2026 lodged by first informant-respondent-4, Devesh Kapoor and registered as Case Crime No. 218 of 2026, under Sections 317(5), 306, 318(4), 338, 336(3), 340(2), 461(2) BNS, Police Station- Hari Parvat, District- Agra.

3a. After aforementioned FIR was lodged, parties amicably settled their dispute outside the court. On the basis of settlement arrived at between the parties, a compromise was entered into. Thereafter, the terms of compromise so entered into by the parties, were reduced to writing by way of a compromise deed. Accordingly, aforesaid compromise deed was brought on record as Annexure-1 to the supplementary affidavit dated 21.09.2026.

4. Present writ petition came up for admission on 21.08.2026 and this Court passed the following order:-

"Order on Amendment Application

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioners, learned AGA for the State, Sri Abhinav Mukherji holding brief of Sri Amarnath Tripathi, learned counsel for respondent No. 4 and perused the record.

2. Amendment Application stands allowed.

3. Let necessary amendments be carried out during the course of the day.

Order on Writ Petition

4. Supplementary affidavit filed on behalf of the petitioners today in Court, is taken on record.

5. Heard learned counsel for the petitioners, learned AGA for the State, Sri Abhinav Mukherji holding brief of Sri Amarnath Tripathi, learned counsel for respondent No. 4 and perused the record.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that on account of business/financial dispute between the parties, the impugned first information report was registered, however subsequently, with the intervention of respected members of both the family and the society, parties have amicably and genuinely resolved all their disputes and differences and now they do not have any grievance against each other.

7. Learned counsel for the petitioner has next drawn the attention of the Court to a dated 18.8.2026 drawn between the parties, a copy of which has been annexed as Annexure No. SA-2 to the supplementary affidavit.

8. Learned counsel for the petitioner has next submitted that in view of the compromise made between the parties and in order to maintain cordial and harmonious relations between them, the impugned first information report qua the petitioners be quashed.

9. Learned counsel for the respondent No. 4 has also appeared and has acknowledged the said compromise, however, he prays for and is granted one week time to file the compromise affidavit.

10. In view thereof, put up as fresh on 27.8.2026.

11. Till then, the petitioner shall not be arrested in pursuance of FIR dated 4.7.2026 arising out of Case Crime no. 0218 of 2026, under Sections 317(5), 306, 318(4), 338, 336(3), 340(2), 61(2) of BNS, P.S. Hari Parwat, District- Nagar (Commissionerate Agra)."

5. Subsequently, matter was taken up on 31.08.2026 and this Court passed the following order:-

"1. The instant writ petition has been filed by the petitioner for quashing the impugned F.I.R. dated 04.07.2026 in connection with Case Crime No.0218 of 2026, under Sections 317(5), 306, 318(4), 338, 336(3), 340(2), 61(2) B.N.S., Police Station - Hari Parwat, District Nagar (Commissionerate Agra) on the basis of compromise and further direction to respondent no. 3 not to arrest the petitioners in pursuance of impugned F.I.R.

2. Learned counsel appearing on behalf of the petitioners and learned counsel appearing on behalf of respondent no.4 have jointly submitted that the parties have already settled all the disputes amicably and prayed for filing compromise deed before the C.J.M., Agra.

3. Learned counsel appearing on behalf of the State-respondents has no objection to the submission made by learned counsel for the parties.

4. Taking into consideration the submissions made by learned counsel for the parties and no objection made by learned A.G.A. appearing on behalf of the State, the parties are permitted to file compromise deed before the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Agra within two weeks and thereafter the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Agra is directed to verify the said compromise deed in presence of the parties in person and send the verification report before this Court by the next date of listing.

5. List this case as fresh on 22.10.2026.

6. Till the next date of listing, the petitioners shall not be arrested pursuant to the impugned F.I.R subject to co-operation with the investigatio"

6. In compliance of above order dated 31.08.2026, parties appeared before court below for verification of compromise so entered by them. Compromise so entered into the parties was verified by court below and compromise verification report dated 11.09.2026 has been sent by court below to this Court, which is annexed as Annexure-2 to the supplementary affidavit dated 21.09.2026.

7. On the above premise, the learned counsel for petitioners thus submits that dispute between the parties is basically a private dispute. Offence, complained of, against petitioners is not a crime against state or society. As such no legal impediment exists in accepting the compromise entered into by the parties. Learned counsel for petitioners further submits that in view of compromise entered into by the parties, no useful purpose shall be served in keeping the present writ petition pending or prolonging the criminal prosecution of petitioners. Apart from above, once the parties have entered into a compromise, then in such a circumstance, the criminal prosecution of petitioners, if prolonged, will only result in loss of public time and money. Since the parties have entered into a compromise the chances of conviction of accused petitioners are not only remote but also bleak. In view of above, the impugned FIR is liable to be quashed by this Court.

8. Per contra, the learned A.G.A. for State-respondents 1, 2 and 3 submits that offence, complained of, is not a crime against state or society but private in nature. As such no legal impediment exists in accepting the compromise entered into by the parties. In view of above, if the first informant- respondent -4 does not wish to continue criminal prosecution of petitioners pursuant to impugned FIR, therefore, then he cannot have any objection, in case, the present writ petition is decided by this Court in terms of the compromise entered into by the parties.

9. On the other hand, Mr. Abhinav Mukharji holding brief of Mr. Amarnath Tripathi, the learned counsel representing first informant-respondent- 4 submits that he has received instructions not to oppose the present writ petition, in view of compromise entered into by the parties. According to the learned counsel representing first informant-respondent-4, once first informant- respondent 4 has herself entered into a compromise with accused/petitioners, therefore, in such a circumstance, the first informant/respondent-4 cannot have any objection, in case, the present writ petition is decided by this Court in terms of the compromise entered into by the parties.

10. Be that as it may, the crux of the matter is that the parties have entered into a compromise, which has been acted upon. This Court is not unmindful of the following judgements of Apex Court:

wherein the Apex Court has categorically held that compromise can be made between the parties even in respect of certain cognizable and non compoundable offences. However, Apex Court in State of M.P. Vs. Laxmi Narayan (Supra) held that no compromise can be made in respect of offences against society as they are not private in nature. Similarly in Ram Pal Vs. State of Haryana (Supra) it has been held that no compromise can be made in cases relating to rape and sexual assault.

Recently, the Apex Court in Daxaben (supra) has held that no compromise can be made in matter under Section 306 IPC. In State of Kerala Vs. Hafsal Rahman (Supra), Court has held that no compromise can be entertained in matters under the POCSO Acts. Reference may also be made to the decision given by this Court in Shaifullah and others Vs. State of U.P. And another [2013 (83) ACC 278] in which the law expounded by the Apex court in some of the aforesaid cases has been explained in detail.

Recently Apex court in Parbatbhai Aahir @ Parbatbhai Bhimsinhbhai Karmur (Supra) has laid down the following guidelines with regard to quashing of criminal proceedings as well compromise in criminal proceedings in paragraphs 16 to 16.10 of the report, which read as under:

"16. The broad principles which emerge from the precedents on the subject, may be summarized in the following propositions

16.1. Section 482 preserves the inherent powers of the High Court to prevent an abuse of the process of any court or to secure the ends of justice. The provision does not confer new powers. It only recognises and preserves powers which inhere in the High Court;

16.2. The invocation of the jurisdiction of the High Court to quash a First Information Report or a criminal proceeding on the ground that a settlement has been arrived at between the offender and the victim is not the same as the invocation of jurisdiction for the purpose of compounding an offence. While compounding an offence, the power of the court is governed by the provisions of Section 320 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973. The power to quash under Section 482 is attracted even if the offence is non-compoundable.

16.3. In forming an opinion whether a criminal proceeding or complaint should be quashed in exercise of its jurisdiction under Section 482, the High Court must evaluate whether the ends of justice would justify the exercise of the inherent power;

16.4. While the inherent power of the High Court has a wide ambit and plenitude it has to be exercised; (i) to secure the ends of justice or (ii) to prevent an abuse of the process of any court;

16.5. The decision as to whether a complaint or First Information Report should be quashed on the ground that the offender and victim have settled the dispute, revolves ultimately on the facts and circumstances of each case and no exhaustive elaboration of principles can be formulated;

16.6. In the exercise of the power under Section 482 and while dealing with a plea that the dispute has been settled, the High Court must have due regard to the nature and gravity of the offence. Heinous and serious offences involving mental depravity or offences such as murder, rape and dacoity cannot appropriately be quashed though the victim or the family of the victim have settled the dispute. Such offences are, truly speaking, not private in nature but have a serious impact upon society. The decision to continue with the trial in such cases is founded on the overriding element of public interest in punishing persons for serious offences;

16.7. As distinguished from serious offences, there may be criminal cases which have an overwhelming or predominant element of a civil dispute. They stand on a distinct footing in so far as the exercise of the inherent power to quash is concerned;

16.8. Criminal cases involving offences which arise from commercial, financial, mercantile, partnership or similar transactions with an essentially civil flavour may in appropriate situations fall for quashing where parties have settled the dispute;

16.9. In such a case, the High Court may quash the criminal proceeding if in view of the compromise between the disputants, the possibility of a conviction is remote and the continuation of a criminal proceeding would cause oppression and prejudice; and

16.10. There is yet an exception to the principle set out in propositions 16.8 and 16.9 above. Economic offences involving the financial and economic well-being of the state have implications which lie beyond the domain of a mere dispute between private disputants. The High Court would be justified in declining to quash where the offender is involved in an activity akin to a financial or economic fraud or misdemeanour. The consequences of the act complained of upon the financial or economic system will weigh in the balance."

Recently in Ramgopal and another (supra), Court has again reiterated the guidelines regarding quashing of criminal proceedings in view of compromise. Following has been observed in paragraph 18-19:-

"18. It is now a well crystalized axiom that plenary jurisdiction of this Court to impart complete justice under Article 142 cannot ipso facto be limited or restricted by ordinary statutory provisions. It is also noteworthy that even in the absence of an express provision akin to Section 482 Cr.P.C. conferring powers on the Supreme Court to abrogate and set aside criminal proceedings, the jurisdiction exercisable under Article 142 of the Constitution embraces this Court with scopious powers to quash criminal proceedings also, so as to secure complete justice. In doing so, due regard must be given to the overarching objective of sentencing in the criminal justice system, which is grounded on the sub-lime philosophy of maintenance of peace of the collective and that the rationale of placing an individual behind bars is aimed at his reformation.

19. We thus sum-up and hold that as opposed to Section 320 Cr.P.C. where the Court is squarely guided by the compromise between the parties in respect of offences 'compoundable' within the statutory framework, the extra-ordinary power enjoined upon a High Court under Section 482 Cr.P.C. or vested in this Court under Article 142 of the Constitution, can be invoked beyond the metes and bounds of Section 320 Cr.P.C. Nonetheless, we reiterate that such powers of wide amplitude ought to be exercise carefully in the context of quashing criminal proceedings, bearing in mind: (i) Nature and effect of the offence on the conscious of the society; (ii) Seriousness of the injury, if any; (iii) Voluntary nature of compromise between accused and the victim; & (iv) Conduct of the accused persons, prior to and after the occurrence of the purported offence and/or other relevant considerations."

11. In State of M.P. Vs. Laxmi Narayan (Supra), the Apex Court held that mere mention of Section 307 IPC cannot be sole basis for not quashing the proceedings. Court has to examine whether the prosecution has collected sufficient evidence for framing of charge under Section 307 IPC. The Court has further required to examine the weapons used and nature of injury and whether injury has been inflicted on vital/delicate parts of the body, the previous antecedents of accused and whether they are absconding and how the compromise was got entered into by the parties are relevant factors, which must be considered. The above observations can be clearly delineated from the recital occurring in paragraphs 11 to 18 of the aforementioned report.

12. Having heard the learned counsel for petitioners, the learned A.G.A. for State-respondents 1, 2 and 3, the learned counsel representing first informant-respondent-4, upon perusal of record and in view of the facts and circumstances of the case as mentioned herein above and also the observations made by the Apex Court as noted above, this Court finds that there does not exists any legal impediment in accepting the compromise entered into by the parties inasmuch as, the dispute between the parties is private in nature and not a crime against state or society. In view of the compromise entered into by the parties, the chances of conviction of accused-petitioners is not only remote but also bleak. As such, continuation of proceedings would itself cause injustice to the parties. The trial would only entail loss of judicial time in a futile pursuit particularly when torrents of litigation drown the Courts with an unimaginable flood of dockets.

13. In view of the discussion made above, the present writ petition succeeds and is liable to be allowed.

14. It is, accordingly, allowed.

15. The impugned FIR dated 04.07.2026 lodged by first informant-respondent-4, Devesh Kapoor and registered as Case Crime No. 218 of 2026, under Sections 317(5), 306, 318(4), 338, 336(3), 340(2), 461(2) BNS, Police Station- Hari Parvat, District- Agra is, hereby, quashed.
