.....Respondent(s)

Court No. - 78

HON'BLE SANDEEP JAIN, J.

The petitioner, Avinash Tiwari, and respondent no. 5, Smt. Nidhi Tiwari, wife of the petitioner, are present before this Court along with their minor child, Suyash Tiwari, as well as their respective learned counsel.

This Court proceeded to interact with respondent no. 5, Smt. Nidhi Tiwari, who apprised the Court that, in compliance with the order dated 20.08.2026 passed by this Court, she had been residing in her matrimonial home along with her minor child. She further unequivocally stated that her husband had been treating her with due dignity, respect and honour and that she had no subsisting grievance or surviving cause of complaint against him.

Upon due interaction with respondent no. 5 and having regard to the statement made by her before this Court, this Court is satisfied that she has been accorded due dignity, respect and honour by her husband in her matrimonial home and that, as on date, no apparent discord or matrimonial estrangement subsists between the spouses.

This Court also interacted with the petitioner, Avinash Tiwari, who submitted that he had duly complied with the order dated 20.08.2026 passed by this Court and had taken all possible measures to ensure that his wife was treated with the dignity, respect and consideration to which she is entitled. He further assured this Court that he would continue to make every sincere endeavour to preserve matrimonial harmony, foster mutual understanding and ensure that no occasion arises in the future for his wife to harbour any grievance against him.

This Court further interacted with the minor corpus, Suyash Tiwari, who stated that his parents were residing together peacefully and happily in their matrimonial home and were taking proper care of him. His statement lends further assurance to the fact that the family is, at present, residing together in an atmosphere of peace and harmony.

Having regard to the statements made by the parties, the interaction held by this Court with respondent no. 5 and the minor corpus, and the overall circumstances brought to the notice of this Court, it appears that the spouses have, for the present, resolved their matrimonial differences and have resumed their conjugal life in a peaceful and harmonious manner. In view of the subsequent developments and the present circumstances prevailing between the parties, the grievance which occasioned the institution of the instant habeas corpus petition no longer survives. Consequently, no further adjudication is warranted in the matter.

This Court sincerely hopes and trusts that the parties shall preserve the harmony that has, at present, been restored to their matrimonial relationship and shall continue to conduct themselves towards each other with mutual affection, understanding, forbearance and respect. It is equally expected that both parents shall discharge their respective parental obligations with utmost sincerity, sensitivity and responsibility, keeping the welfare, emotional well-being and holistic development of their minor child at the forefront of their considerations. The child deserves to grow up in a secure, nurturing and congenial family environment, imbued with love, affection and mutual respect, so as to enable him to develop into a responsible, conscientious and law-abiding citizen of the country.

Accordingly, in view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances, and since no surviving cause of action remains to be adjudicated, the instant habeas corpus petition stands disposed of.
